DETAILED ACTION

Response to Remarks

1. Applicant's arguments filed 2/16/2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Examiner has thoroughly reviewed Applicant's arguments but firmly believes that the 101 rejections on claims 9-16 have not been overcome by the amendment on claims 9-16.

Applicant's argument:

Claim 9-16 have been amended to replace the phrase "computer readable medium" with "data storage device" to overcome the 101 rejections. Non-limiting of data storage devices are listed on page 10 of the specification.

Examiner's response:

The applicant argued that the examples of the data storage device are not recited in the claim. Therefore, limitations contained therein cannot be read into the claims for the purpose of overcoming the 101 rejection.

The amended claim 9 recites a data storage device comprising machine readable instruction. It appears that the claim would reasonable be interpreted by one of ordinary skill in the art as software per se storing in a data storage device. Software per se, i.e., the description or expression of the program, are not physical "things". They are neither computer components nor statutory processes, as they are not "act" being performed. Therefore, it is a non-statutory functional descriptive material.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claims 9-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Claims 9-16 recites a data storage device comprising machine readable instruction. It appears that the claim would reasonable be interpreted by one of ordinary skill in the art as software per se storing in a data storage device. Software per se, i.e., the description or expression of the program, are not physical "things". They are neither computer components nor statutory processes, as they are not "act" being performed. Therefore, it is a non-statutory functional descriptive material.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-8 and 17-18 are allowed.
4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The present invention describes the method and apparatus for filtering common mode interference. The closest prior arts, Johnson (US 5,920,223) discloses a method and apparatus to improve immunity to common-mode noise. However, Johnson fails to disclose summing the levels of a subset of data channels to get a summed level and compare the summed level to the highest level present in the plurality of data channels and rejecting a common mode interference in each of the plurality of channels if the summed level exceeds the highest level. The distinct features have been added to the independent claims 1 and 17, therefore, rendering them allowable.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
